

Murray City Cultural Arts presents
Todd Green

Saturday, February 28
Murray High Auditorium – 7 pm
$5 General Admission

Todd Green, multi-instrumentalist, will perform original music on over 30 acoustic string, flute and percussion instruments from all over the world, inspired by many different cultures in the Middle East, Central Asia, Far East and South America. His custom-built electronic system allows him to layer instruments as he performs, which in effect turns him into a high-tech one-man-band of World Music. His artistic mission is to "help bring down the barriers that divide us by experiencing other cultures through their music" as he takes his audiences on a musical armchair-tour of the world.

For more information, phone 801-264-2614.

This project is supported in part by residents of Salt Lake County and Zoo, Arts, and Parks (ZAP) and the Utah Division of Arts & Museums, with funding from the State of Utah and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Utah Division of Arts & Museums

MURRAY
PARKS & RECREATION